Dear Stand Up For Kids;

My students were doing research on the issue of homelessness. The conversation turned to "what is the problem with homelessness in our community?" This led to some research in which my students were horrified to find out that there were actually homeless youth in the Detroit area. Through many questions and group discussions the students decided this was wrong and they needed to do something about it. Thus began their mission. They started cutting out paper houses and chose a date when they would sell them. For $1 fellow classmates "bought a house" put their name on it and hung them in our hallways. I have enclosed a house for you and a check for all the houses that our students sold. They were so excited and proud- as I am. It is my hope that our small effort can be of some help to homeless youth in Detroit.

Most Sincerely,
